In addition to the qualifying paperwork received after registering and training, contractors and volunteers will need to show one of the following forms of identification to receive their credentials: state issued driver's license or I.D. card, military I.D. card or U.S. passport. Foreign nationals must show a country-issued passport and an I-94 form showing they are authorized to be in the United States.

Credentialing is not currently required to work in Alabama as a result of the oil spill. However, if access to areas becomes restricted due to the oil spill, state-issued badges will be required.

The Alabama Department of Environmental Management is the lead agency for the state's response to the oil spill under the Unified Command. ADEM is coordinating efforts for a wide range of state agencies that are involved in responding to the situation.
